their way down from the platform at the close and their friends pressed forward with praises on their lips, it was a gala occasion for the class and for the school. Songs that fairly sparkled with the sans gene spirit of the evening, witty speeches that were frequently punctuated with hearty laughter from the audience, sweet girl graduates arrayed in all the enchanting finery of commencement time-all these things contributed to make a programme of which any college graduating class could be proud. It was all so delightfully original and refreshing that the great crowd present forgot for the time that they were indoors, packed ever so closely together on a very warm evening in June.

Fitting Finale of Graduates.

Everything possible was done by the graduates to make the evening a success, so it is little wonder that the audience went away when it was all over telling each other what a good programme it had been and gently humming over the remnants of the songs that were still lingering in the recesses of their minds. This was all as it should be and was a very fitting close to the work of the school year. As on Monday evening, when the juniors held forth, a great deal of attention was paid to the teachers who have seen the class through its four years' work. The juniors also came in for their full share and they were told time and again how insignificant a factor they are in the conduct of the school. These same juniors sat down below, immediately in front of the platform, listening to it all and occasionally put-ting in a remark that turned the joke on those who were telling the public about it on the platform.

Whoever attended to the decoration of the room deserves all kinds of credit when an apportionment of compliments is made to those who aided the most in the success of the evening. The class color-Harvard crimson-was used profusely, the stage being banked with bunting, and streamers hung in all directions from the ceiling. Red and black pennants tacked on the walls at convenient points served to show that all the patriotism of the students was not for their class but that their school also came in for its share,

Although the exercises did not commence until half past 8 o'clock, the people began to come an hour before that time. They had evidently been to such exercises before in the high school and they knew that standing room would be at a premium. And it was. Every seat in the big assembly room was filled by two persons and they crowded up the aisles and hung suspended in the windows. It was a superior of the rolls: W. W. Riter and A. F. Doremus, $20,000; W. W. Riter, $4,882; Mary A. Jack, $3,400; Robert A. Davison, $3,000; John Tiernan, $2,911; George M. Scott, treasurer St. Mark's church, $2,500; F. A. Druehl, $1,500; Walter Baird, $400; F. E. Gregg and H. Foster, $330. ows. It was a great crowd and that was in full sympathy with the hits made by the graduates.

A class song to the tune of "Oh, Listen To The Band," opened the festi-vities. The juniors were quick to realize that it was one of the tunes used on the evening previous and one of the more irreverent of them asked the question just loud enough for the audience to hear, "Where have we heard that tune before?" The audience giggled and thea laughed and it was some little time before the warbling students were able to proceed. But when they did go on, they made up everything they had lost and captured

The address of the president, Mark | 1y. Brown, followed. It was entitled on the programme, "Few Remarks," those few were devoted mostly to the junior class, whom Mr. Brown characterized as almost everything under the sun except good-natured students were soon to step into the shoes

Winslow Smith, whose recitative real hosiery had interfered seriously with the acoustic properties of the room, pulled down his trousers and sang a solo about "Ye Juniors Bold." It was to the tune of "The Boy Guessed" Right," and was sung with a dash. The class joined in the choruses and in the spirit of the piece, the whole being a most pleasing feature.

Presentation to Under Graduates. This concluded the first part and during the intermission Percy Berkley made a few presents to the various classes. The freshmen got a milk can, the sophomores a contrivance for the counteraction of what is called in the parlance of the street the "swelled head", and the juniors received as obstructing the carriage of the United peka & Santa Fe railroad directors their gift, a much-used umbrella to States mail in Ogden, was yesterday have declared a semi-annual dividend shield them from the storms which allowed by Judge Marshall to go out they had brought upon their heads by on his own bail for $500. The second part was an original farce entitled, "What Is To Be." It represented a scene in Hades some time in the dim and misty future and all of the teachers received their just deserts. John Turner made an excellent Pluto, Frank Foote was an ideal Beelzebub and Paul Tarpey, otherwise known as "Irish", flattered some mys-derious senior of last year by an impersonation that was very clever. Pele, weak, nervous or emaciated? If so, you are anaemic—you may go into deeline. Anaemis is often a forerunner of consumption. HUDYAN will cure you.

If you are anaemic, then your bloed is thin and watery and is deficient in those rich, red elements that make flesh and give health and strength.

HUDYAN is a positive cure for anaemia for it makes rich blood which in turn gives a glow of health to all pale and wan complexions.

a glow of neath to all pale and wan complexions.

Know for yourself your condition: Headaches fig. 1, sunken eyes and dark circles under eyes fig. 2, emaciation and paleness fig. 3, coated tongue fig. 4, palpitation of heart fig. 5, disordered digestion fig. 6, torpid liver fig. 7, weakness of extremities fig. 8-8; all these symptoms indicate ansemia.

HUDYAN reaches fig. 1 because it relieves the congestion or ansemia of brain. HUDYAN reaches ng. 1 because it re-lieves the congestion or anaemia of brain. Fig. 2 and 2, because HUDYAN makes rich, red blood which in turn gives muscle and a glow of health. Fig. 4, because HUDYAN corrects the di-gestive functions. Fig. 5, because HUDYAN tanquilizes the nerves that govern action of heart.

Fig. 6, because HUDYAN strengthens and stimulates to perfect action the little glands that furnish the digestive juices.
Fig. 7, because HUDYAN stimulates the liver gently.

Fig. 8. because HUDYAN establishes a perfect circulation of blood that is rich in nutritive elements.
